

New York Stock Market

New York, May 28.—To-day's session of the Stock Exchange differed from that of the preceding day only in the sense that it was duller and more uninteresting. The resumption of business in London and on the Continent since the triple holiday was of little avail here, in fact, business in the foreign markets was no more active than here. Some of the matters to which Wall Street gave more or less consideration in the course of the day were the New Jersey presidential primaries, a proposed re-organizing re-adjustment of Western freight rates, the refusal of the United States Circuit Court for this district to make permanent the temporary injunction recently granted by the government restraining further sales of "valorized" copper, yet another advance in copper and the official weekly weather report. The latter was in some respects the most important development of the day because it outlined a general condition decidedly more favorable than was entertained a fortnight ago. In the Northwest particularly are crops at their best, a fact that may explain some of the buoyancy and strength shown by the Hill stocks. On the other hand, the stagnation of the stock market may be ascribed to the fact that in the second hour of the afternoon, just about 11 o'clock, a sharp depression resulted from the strike of the dock hands and fears respecting the outcome of the next settlement. The local bond market was lower, with a few irregular features.
